

Stock Up Your Wine Cellar....100 Magnums of Premium Red Wine!

Planning a big party? Win approximately 100 magnums of wine from Chateau St Esteve de Neri. The 2004 predominantly Syrah-based wine is a deep red colour, with hints of violet. The presentation in 1500ml bottles (magnums) will assure the wine of good aging potential over the next 3-5 years. It is a fine accompaniment for game and rich winter stews. The wine has been listed as a Silver medal winner at the World Wine Awards in the October edition of Decanter and it has one star in the Guide Hachette des Vins 2007.

Twelve Tickets to Race of Champions

Twelve VIP tickets in the RBS Hospitality Box at Wembley Stadium for the Race of Champions on 16th December 2007.

The ROC remains the only opportunity for drivers to race in exactly the same cars and on a parallel-track. The premise is simple: using identical equipment and track, drivers can prove themselves based on their talent alone. Watch as eighteen drivers compete in a series of knockout heats in their own division to determine their class champion. Then, in a shootout to determine who the master of motorsport is, the winners from the two divisions will go head-to-head in a super final.

Jian Guo Men No.1 – Print by Helen Couchman

A signature print from Helen Couchman's current exhibition in Beijing.

Observing the new glories of a city that is designed to welcome the world to the Olympic games next year, Helen Couchman is exploring the structure and scale of her imagery, mixing the traditional cultural icon of the dragon with the new icons of Beijing - vast buildings. Couchman has learnt a traditional Chinese woodcut printing technique to make this work, mixing this traditional form of production into her practice. Recently working in blacks and grays, she has introduced red, the colour of luck in China, into her palette.
