21st Annual EMTA Forum in Singapore

November 2, 2026

Panel 2

≈≈

PIN RU TAN (Moderator)
HSBC

Pin Ru Tan is an Asia-Pacific rates strategist at HSBC Singapore, where she covers regional rates markets. Prior to joining HSBC in 2011, Pin Ru was an Asia FX and rates strategist with another financial institution. For a few years running, she has been voted among the top pan-Asia sell-side analysts in The Asset Survey.

Pin Ru holds a bachelor's degree in economics from Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, and was awarded a Lee Kuan Yew Gold Medal.

CEDRIC CHEHAB
BMI, a Fitch Solutions Company

Cedric Chehab is the Chief Economist at BMI, where he oversees the global macroeconomic strategy and country risk analysis. Based in Singapore, Cedric previously served as Global Head of Country Risk, ensuring the coherence of global macro and country risk strategy. His earlier roles at BMI include Head of Asia Research, responsible for all Asia-based country risk analysis and industry research, and Head of Americas Research. From 2008 to 2010, Cedric worked in London as Head of Commodities Research and Strategy.

He has also accumulated experience in management consulting at Accenture. Cedric holds an MSc in Economic History from the London School of Economics and a BA in Politics, Philosophy and Economics from the University of Essex.

ABHAY GUPTA
BofA Securities

Abhay Gupta is an EM Asia FX and Rates strategist at Bank of America, based in Singapore. His experience spans over a decade in Asia FX and rates markets, including previous roles as a strategist at a macro hedge fund and managing Asia macro exposure at other buy-side institutions. His team has been consistently ranked within the top-three in the Asia Currency & Rates Strategy category of the Institutional Investor Surveys.

(continued) ⇨

SAMEER GOEL
Deutsche Bank

Sameer Goel is Managing Director and Global Head of Research for Emerging Markets and Asia-Pacific at Deutsche Bank, based in Singapore. He is a member of the Research Executive Council of the bank. Mr. Goel joined DB in 2005 and has over 25 years of experience in coverage of macroeconomics, fixed income and currencies in emerging markets. His team, consistently highly ranked in surveys like Institutional Investor, and with a global footprint across offices in New York, London, Johannesburg, Mumbai, Singapore, Hong Kong, Sydney and Tokyo, is responsible for providing macroeconomic and strategy analysis on financial markets in Asia Pacific and global emerging economies, evaluating investment opportunities, and advising on asset allocation to a broad range of institutional and corporate clients. In this capacity, Mr. Goel engages regularly with senior policy officials, appears on business news channels like CNBC and Bloomberg, and is quoted in various print media like Financial Times and Wall Street Journal, to represent the bank's views on key global macroeconomic and financial issues.

Prior to joining Deutsche Bank, Mr. Goel worked as the regional currency and rates strategist for Bank of America in Singapore. He has also worked with ICICI limited, India's largest private sector bank, as an interest rate strategist. An economist by training, Mr. Goel has an MSc degree from The London School of Economics and Political Science, and an MA from the University of Cambridge. He read Economics for his undergraduate degree at St. Stephen's College, University of Delhi.

ANUSHKA SHAH
Moody's Ratings

Anushka Shah is a Senior Vice President with Moody's Sovereign Risk Group. Based in Singapore, Anushka covers a portfolio of credits in Asia Pacific, including China, Australia and Korea. She has previously also covered a range of credits in the region, including a mix of emerging and frontier market economies.

Prior to joining Moody's, Anushka worked for more than seven years at Citi Investment Research, where her focus was on the South Asian economies.

Anushka has a Master's in Economics and Finance from the University of Warwick, UK and a Bachelor's in Economics from