

Research Analyst, EM Credit Analyst (London)

Looking for a high-impact Credit Analyst with 3+ years of hands-on experience in corporate credit and quantitative analysis, with a focus on Emerging Markets. Ideally, the candidate would have exposure to AI-enabled research tools. This role is for someone who thrives on market movement, digs deep into company fundamentals, and can turn insight into actionable investment views.

What you'll bring:

- Experience covering corporates across a range of EM sectors – from industrials to commodities & financials
- A strong analytical mindset backed by quantitative fluence and interest in data-enhanced and AI-driven modeling
- The confidence to take clear positions – and the conviction to defend them with investors, management teams and colleagues
- Crisp, impactful writing that delivers conclusions, not just observations
- Strong understanding of macro and geopolitical dynamics shaping EM risk and opportunity.

Please send resumes to EMTA contact Suzette Vaccaro (svaccaro@emta.org)